

Deep-Set Eyes

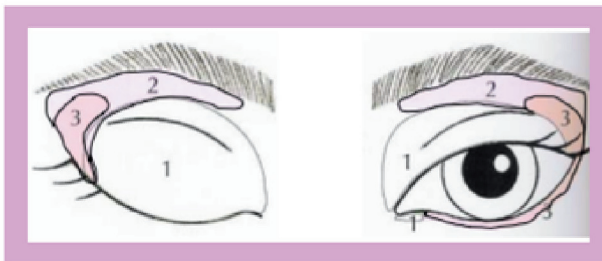

- Deep-set eyes are set deep into the sockets and the browbone extends out farther than any other eye shape. The goal with deep-set eyes is to bring them out and make them more noticeable.
- A dark eyelid does not work with this eye shape. You want to highlight deep-set eyes as much as possible to help bring them out.
- A dark crease is also unnecessary. Nature has provided its own, so there's no need to emphasize it. There is no need to highlight the browbone, since it is already prominent. Thin eyeliner close to the lashes is best.

Deep-Set Eyes

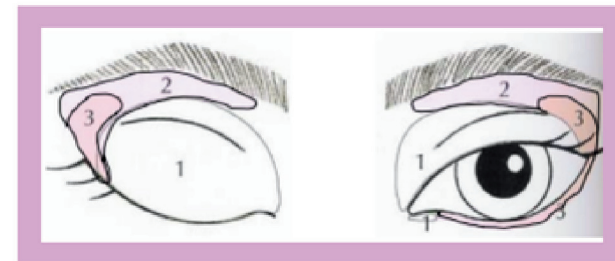

- Deep-set eyes are set deep into the sockets and the browbone extends out farther than any other eye shape. The goal with deep-set eyes is to bring them out and make them more noticeable.
- A dark eyelid does not work with this eye shape. You want to highlight deep-set eyes as much as possible to help bring them out.
- A dark crease is also unnecessary. Nature has provided its own, so there's no need to emphasize it. There is no need to highlight the browbone, since it is already prominent. Thin eyeliner close to the lashes is best.

Deep-Set Eyes

- Deep-set eyes are set deep into the sockets and the browbone extends out farther than any other eye shape. The goal with deep-set eyes is to bring them out and make them more noticeable.
- A dark eyelid does not work with this eye shape. You want to highlight deep-set eyes as much as possible to help bring them out.
- A dark crease is also unnecessary. Nature has provided its own, so there's no need to emphasize it. There is no need to highlight the browbone, since it is already prominent. Thin eyeliner close to the lashes is best.

Deep-Set Eyes

- Deep-set eyes are set deep into the sockets and the browbone extends out farther than any other eye shape. The goal with deep-set eyes is to bring them out and make them more noticeable.
- A dark eyelid does not work with this eye shape. You want to highlight deep-set eyes as much as possible to help bring them out.
- A dark crease is also unnecessary. Nature has provided its own, so there's no need to emphasize it. There is no need to highlight the browbone, since it is already prominent. Thin eyeliner close to the lashes is best.